Air pollution is the accumulation of substances that endanger human health. Awareness about the major sources of air pollution was given. They include power and heat generation, the burning of solid wastes, industrial processes. The major pollutants are hydrocarbons, carbon monoxide, nitrogen oxides, sulphur dioxide and photochemical oxidants.

Air pollution should be controlled. The contribution by the public should be use of only unleaded petrol, use petroleum products and other fuels that have low sulphur and ash content, plant trees, use L.P.G. instead of wood, use of catalytic converter to help control the Dry the clothes in sun instead of drier if it is a sunny day. Use solar cooker for cooking our food and cut down LPG expenses. Grow deciduous trees and climbers at proper places outside your home. This will cut off your electricity charges on cooler and air conditioners. Try riding bicycle or just walk down small distances instead of using our car or scooter.
